

eucen SEMINAR ACROSS THE ATLANTIC 2022

Quality Assurance in Continuing Education - Finding mechanisms to guarantee excellence

Thursday, 21 April 2022 | 16:00-18:00CET

In a changing world where the on-going acquisition of specialised knowledge is vital to keep up with the labour market requirements, universities must constantly adapt their continuing education offer to the needs of professionals and offer flexible pathways to learners.

The challenges arising from the Covid-19 pandemic have led to a rapid and dramatic increase in the number of online programs. In that context, how can we guarantee the quality of the programs offered in online or hybrid format? How can we ensure that continuing education programs are not only perceived as responding to the market needs but also as fulfilling the quality requirements of an excellent program?

We are pleased to present the eucen Seminar Across the Atlantic 2022, planned in collaboration with UPCEA and AAACE.

Participate in a debate involving Europe and North America regarding the quality assurance mechanisms that can guarantee excellence in continuing education today.
